

Jason & Nicole

hello!

We are Jason & Nicole and we are so happy to meet you!

As hard as it is for us to write this and introduce ourselves in a moment this big for all of us, we have to stop and admire your strength and courage in the moment you are facing. It is truly admirable and we are humbled by your courage and strength to choose adoption for your child.

We have said from the very beginning to each other that this child will be DOUBLE loved from the very moment they are here! The love you have for your child is beyond measure already. Our biggest prayer has always been to be blessed with a child to love and cherish as our own. See... DOUBLE loved!

We will foster their strengths, interests and their gifts to live life to the fullest. We will help them grow to be confident, resilient, and learn from their mistakes. We will always provide a loving, caring, stable home full of support with lots of family and friends to surround your child.

No matter where your journey leads you, we hope you know and find comfort knowing that you will have chosen a path where your child will be regarded as the biggest blessing and will be cherished everyday.

Thank you for taking a look into us and our lives!

with gratitude,

Jason and Nicole

We met in high school and have been together ever since! We actually met in Hilton Head, South Carolina, while our families were on vacation at the same time. We only lived about 20 miles from each other back home and went to rival high schools. We got married a few years out of college and have wanted to start a family ever since.

Starting our family has never been easy for us once our fertility struggles came to light. We love our nephews and our friends' children but long for a family of our own.

Despite the hurdles we've encountered in starting our family, they've become catalysts for strengthening our marriage. Through tough times, we've relied on each other, deepening our trust and communication. Rather than weaken us, these challenges have strengthened our resolve and prepared us even more to provide love and support for a child. We're convinced that each obstacle has only made us more resilient and better equipped for the journey of parenthood.

HOW JASON DESCRIBES ME:

My wife has the most caring personality of anyone I know. She is always making sure the people around her are ok. People always tell me how lucky I am to have her! :)

Nicole enjoys her job working for a family-owned Marketing company and also enjoys the flexibility and freedom it allows for herself and family. She has a flexible schedule and works from home. Outside her professional world, Nicole's passion for tennis is infectious; having played college tennis, the court feels like a second home to her. She enjoys helping coach tennis when her time allows.

Nicole loves to stay active, enjoys time with family and friends, and loves to cheer on her favorite sports teams. She also enjoys cooking dinner with Jason for weeknight dinners.

our \ home \

Our neighborhood, situated on a quiet cul-de-sac, is a mix of all ages, fostering a close-knit community atmosphere. We enjoy taking walks or bike rides around the area, with a nearby park within walking distance.

One of our favorite traditions in our community is our annual Christmas Eve luminary event. As dusk settles, the neighborhood transforms into a breathtaking sea of twinkling lights, drawing us all together in a heartwarming display of unity and holiday spirit.

Jason's love for cooking shines through as we often host gatherings for family and friends, showcasing his culinary skills and creating memorable moments for all of us.

our \ home \ away from home

Hilton Head, South Carolina is a special place for us and our family, where our paths first crossed in a twist of fate. We met by chance on the beach, in high school, while on vacation with our families and discovered we lived just 20 miles apart, attending rival high schools.

We make it a point to visit at least once a year, drawn back by the laid-back charm and delicious seafood. We love sharing our favorite spots with loved ones, whether it's dining at our favorite restaurants, enjoying a game of tennis or golf, or simply soaking up the sun on the beach.

We're excited to share to this meaningful place, where our story began and where new memories are sure to be made.
