Hi!

Welcome to our Family & Community!

We have always wanted a family, even before we got married in 2021. While we can't achieve this on our own, we are hoping to bring a child into our lives that we can show the world to and love. Everyone deserves their opportunity to explore the world unbound, finding passions along the way. We made this book wanting to show you the people and things we both enjoy that will be a part of your child's life.

We understand how difficult this is for you in selecting those who will be giving your child their place in the world through adoption. Choosing this route is difficult, but we hope you can find peace in knowing that we are committed to helping them grow into the passionate, caring person they choose to be, together. You have spent many days and nights thinking about what is the best for them, hoping those you place them with will treat them fairly, compassionately, and with love. Thank you for taking the time to look through this brief window of what the world could look like for your child, and know that we will whole heartedly love them unconditionally.

our Life

Hillary and Bryan met while working for a vending company. Our first date was at Lily's, sitting outside on the patio. We talked for hours and then went down to the riverside.

We got married February 13th, 2021 in the pandemic. Due to restrictions, we had nine people at our wedding and had Hillary's brother, Joey, officiate in our first home. We then adopted our two cats, Beckham and Boston, within months of each other in 2022. Bryan worked from home and was having the hardest time not letting them play together at first since Boston was much smaller and didn't want them to get hurt. Now they are the best of friends.

We live in a suburb of Dayton, and love to spend time at our local park and outdoor plaza. We attend local festivities like annual Christmas tree lightings and the popcorn festival.

Bottom Right - An anniversary trip we took to Indianapolis.

When it comes to travel we try to stay in small town settings as a chance to relax away from home. We also try to visit our friends in Florida, Indiana and Pennsylvania as often as we can. We have fostered a community that we know we can rely on and trust wherever we are. We spend time with our friends and families through dinners and get togethers, we value being able to create memories with our loved ones.

Hillary

Hi! I grew up in a suburb of Dayton, Ohio, with my younger brother. My family had many traditions growing up and still do some today. Whether it's camping every summer, experiencing all the joys of Christmas, gathering with extended family to celebrate life's milestones or attending our weekly family dinners. My parents worked really hard to provide the best life and teaching us how to be respectful and loving individuals. I learned how to be self sufficient and was taught life skills starting at a young age.

I work for a local school district as a teacher's assistant in the special education department. It is the most rewarding job getting to know these children, watching them grow, helping them learn, and be successful. In my spare time I love to read, bake, and watch movies. Bryan and I also love to play board games with our friends and family. I enjoy traveling and visiting smaller cities and towns, and enjoying nature and camping. My favorite place to visit is Hocking Hills, Ohio, as I love the quiet and serenity.

I am ready for this next journey in our lives. It has always been a dream of mine to be a mother. My passion for family is as big (if not bigger) than my extended family of 46 and growing! That doesn't count fur babies like Beckham and Boston, but it should!

Bryan

Hi! I know you've seen a bit about our journey and Hillary, and I wanted to take some time to introduce myself and my passions as well. I grew up in Dayton, OH with three siblings. I am the second oldest. I went to a local art school for high school, and graduated from the University of Dayton in Business Administration. I have worked in the mortgage and commercial loan industries for a while now and love being able to make a true impact on people's lives through finance. I also am working on a personal finance book to help people understand their personal finances better.

I absolutely love being able to spend time with family and friends doing a multitude of things. Soccer, baseball, playing board games and so much more. I even coach my nephew's soccer teams in the summer. In my downtime, I love to read, take walks and write. I believe that focusing on both intrinsic and extrinsic areas of life leads to personal fulfillment.

Having a family and helping a child explore the world and grow has always been something I have wanted out of life. I'm excited to learn their passions as well as share my own with them. I also am looking to instill values of community, expression and living within the comfort of one's own circumstances. Everyone has their own path, and as a parent it is my job to help them learn and grow with the world around them.

Family

We come from two very different family sizes. Bryan is one of four: Emmi, Bryan, Veronica, and Maxx. His extended family is small at that point. He has seven cousins that are around the US. All of Bryan's siblings live within the greater Dayton Area. Emmi has three children with Veronica having one on the way! We get together around holidays and love to host. Bryan also coaches his nephews in soccer and is waiting to teach his niece as well.

Hillary is one of two: Hillary and Joey. From there, she has twelve cousins who have fifteen children. Most are in the greater Cincinnati area. Hillary's parents live a mile away from us. We commonly go to their place for dinners or to watch sports like Soccer and Football. Bryan got Hillary's parents into European soccer and are now avid Tottenham Hotspur Fans.

Our

Home

Hillary may trust Bryan more than she should.... She let him renovate the kitchen from the ground up! The kitchen is the heart of our home.

The basement is where we love to cuddle up on the couch with a blanket and watch a movie.

Our Goals for our Child

Be caring and compassionate

Follow your dreams

Have confidence and be brave

Be healthy and happy

We are so excited to be parents! From teaching life lessons to just having fun playing soccer in the park behind our house, we can't think of anything that would make the world feel complete. We started putting together furniture and collecting books to read, toys to play with and so much more.

What I love about Bryan

Bryan is one of the most caring, supportive, and driven people I know. Whenever someone needs help, he's the first person there. He has been so supportive of me and others in everything we do.

He is right there on the sidelines cheering us on. He puts one hundred percent in all he does and is always trying to achieve his goals, whether it's graduating from college to getting his dream job or coaching his nephews. Bryan is very goofy and energetic, when he walks into a room it lights up. Everywhere we go he makes new friends (that's why he has so many). He always jokes it's the reason why metal detectors go off around him, his personality is just magnetic.

I can't see my life without Bryan in it. He is my best friend and the love of my life. he would make an amazing father to a very blessed baby and I can't wait to see him as one. To watch him hold our child for the first time and see the bond they will share.

Hillary is so wonderful. She is quirky, fun, organized, and always looking for something to put passion into. Hillary is creative as well. She loves art; she reads and draws while also taking the time to appreciate the beauty of nature. Hillary intrinsitcally brings color to the world around her through her bright personality and insights.

Choosing to spend our lives together has brought me so much joy. Hillary is supporting in all of the right ways. She also shows her love to the world on a regular basis, especially her love for caring for others. I'm excited to see her shine as a mother. She deserves the world.
