

Leah & Jeff

Dear Expectant Mother

We want to start by expressing our deep admiration for you. We can only imagine how difficult this decision must be, and we know that considering adoption takes immense strength, love, and courage. Please know that you are in our prayers, and we are grateful for the opportunity to share a little about ourselves with you.

We met through a mutual friend and immediately began dating in 2014. In 2018, we married and bought a home on a quiet cul-de-sac in an integrated neighborhood full of children.

One of the things that brought us together was our shared interest in adopting. From the very beginning of our relationship, we knew that growing our family through adoption was something we both deeply hoped for.

Family means everything to us. We have built a home filled with warmth, laughter, and unconditional love. We are so excited about the possibility of welcoming another child into our hearts and home. Our daughters are eager to become big sisters and would be thrilled to add a new sibling into our family, where they will be cherished beyond measure.

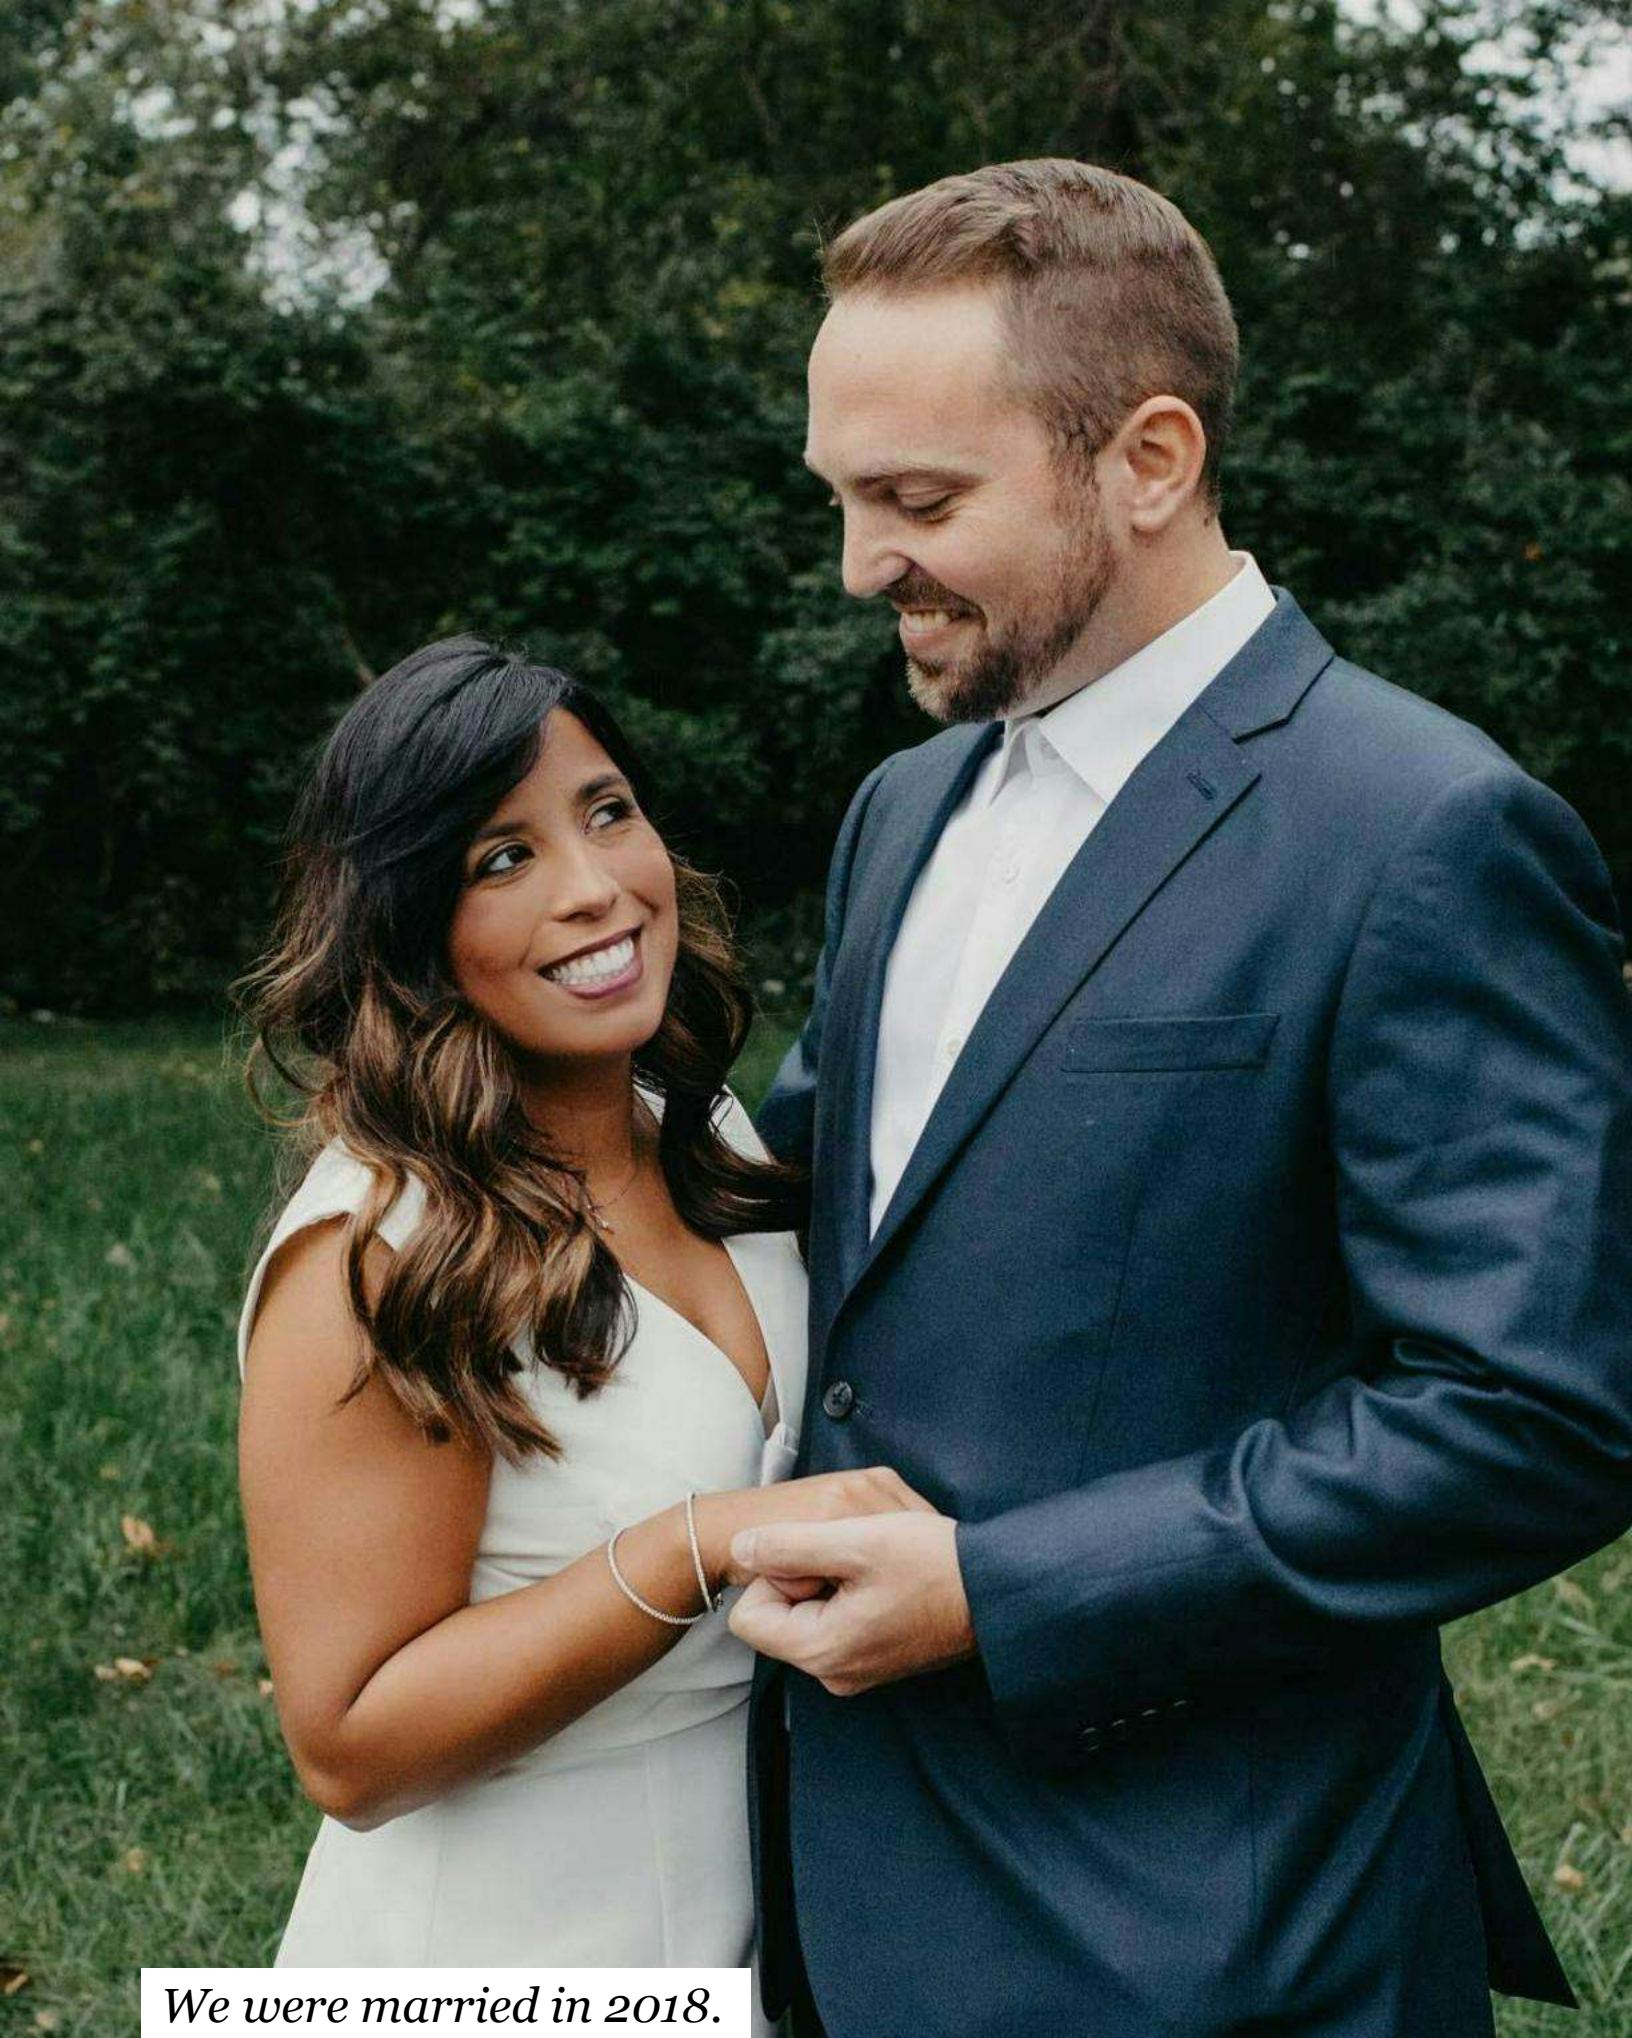

If you choose us as the adoptive parents for your baby, we promise to provide a life filled with love, stability, and faith. Your child will always know their story and the incredible sacrifice that brought them into our family.

Thank you for considering us and for the love and bravery that guide your decision. We are praying for you and your baby and would love the opportunity to connect with you.

With our love and gratitude,

Leah & Jeff

We were married in 2018.

Meet Leah

I love being a mother and strive to always put my family first.

I was raised in a large family where adoption was a meaningful part of life for both my siblings and myself.

Being adopted from Bulgaria with my twin sister when I was 13 months old, I understand what it's like not to look like my parents. This has given me a deep empathy and understanding of what makes a happy, successful multicultural family.

As a hairstylist, I make sure our daughters always have the best hair, a skill that comes in handy more often than not! I work part-time and Grandma babysits, so the kids don't have to go to daycare. This allows me to spend more time with them, whether it's exploring museums, visiting the zoo, or organizing playdates with friends and cousins.

I try to keep it fun and for the kids by helping me in the kitchen. They are especially good at stirring and eating batter.

I'm blessed to be surrounded by such a kind and supportive family- they are a constant source of strength and joy.

Meet Jeff

Ever since I was a kid, I've been fascinated by rockets and the vastness of space, which is what led me to become an Aerospace Engineer. But I've never quite fit the typical engineering stereotype. While I love science and technology, I'm also very outgoing and thrive on social gatherings, conversations, and making connections. You are just as likely to find me kicking a soccer ball to the kids or flying kites together as you are to see me geeking out over space exploration.

My family means the world to me, and I thank God every single day for blessing me with such incredible souls to love and be loved by. As a husband and father, I am dedicated to being the very best provider and protector to my wife and children.

Beyond my career, I have always envisioned my family sitting around the dining room table, protesting whatever vegetable is being served that evening, talking about their day, and playing I Spy. Nothing fulfills me more than knowing I can make a difference in my children's lives, whether through my work, or through the love and stability of a family.

Meet Eleanor

Ellie is a lively 5-year-old who loves school and sharing what she learns with her sister, Mia. She attends preschool at our neighborhood school.

A natural teacher at heart, she enjoys coloring, solving mazes, and playing board games with intense focus. Outgoing and full of energy, she has tons of friends and never turns down a dance party! But her best friend of all is really her sister.

Meet Amelia

Mia is a bubbly four-year-old who adores her baby dolls, stuffed animals, and our labrador, Roscoe. She loves playing doctor, making sure everyone—grandma, cousins, and our dog included—gets a thorough check-up.

Dance parties with her sister are her favorite, and she never misses a chance to twirl around with joy in her Cinderella costume. Full of curiosity and nonstop energy, she absolutely loves preschool and all the friends who make it so fun.

Meet Our Extended Family

We are blessed with a large extended family, anchored by our supportive grandparents. With four sets of aunts and uncles and lots of cousins, our time together goes beyond holidays. We gather at least once a week creating memories that keep us close.

Cousins all under the age of five, running around the dining room table, singing the theme song from Frozen, or fighting over the most recent superhero toy, while pizza flies from plate to plate, it's chaos and super fun! Jeff is known as the ringleader and is always throwing one of the cousins into the air or challenging them to a game of hide and seek.

More than just relatives, we want the cousins to grow up as lifelong friends, always a part of each other's lives. We are grateful for the wonderful bond we share.

We Want You to Know

We can only imagine how difficult this decision is for you. We are grateful that you are considering us as adoptive parents for your baby. Being parents is the most important thing in the world to us. We love our family, but it won't feel complete until we are able to grow our family through adoption.

We want you to assure you that we would love your child, keep them safe, and give every advantage in life that we possibly can. We respect your selfless choice and would be honored to surround your child with a lifetime of love.

We completely understand and respect your desire for confidentiality. However, we'd love to keep you connected and reassured by sharing pictures and videos if that feels right for you.
