and Brandon

hello!

SO NICE TO MEET YOU!

THANK YOU FOR TAKING THE TIME TO GET TO KNOW US!

We know that choosing an adoptive family is an incredibly personal decision, and we are truly grateful for your time. We hope these pages give you a glimpse into who we are, the life we've built together, and the love we hope to share with a child.

We are honored to share our story with you and we wish you peace and comfort as you make the decision that is right for you and your child.

our STORY

We met in 2020 and quickly knew there was something special between us. Not long after meeting, we learned that Brandon would be deployed for nearly eight months after only dating for less than three months. We spent a large part of our early relationship apart, and while this would have broken most couples so early on, we knew we were meant for each other and held on. Even though it was difficult, that time strengthened our bond and helped us truly get to know one another in a deeper way while we supported each other from a distance. We wouldn't trade that time for anything, as it helped lay the foundation for our relationship today.

We got engaged in 2023 and were married in 2024. That same year, we bought our first home together and began building our life side by side. Since then, we've shared countless adventures, vacations, and meaningful memories as a couple, and we continue to grow together one step at a time.

We have always talked about starting a family, but after learning early on that conceiving naturally was not part of God's plan for us, we realized we needed to make a choice. We spent time learning about our options and ultimately felt called to pursue adoption. The adoption process has taught us a lot, and while it hasn't always been easy, we wouldn't change a thing because it has led us here. We feel incredibly grateful for the path that has brought us to this moment and are excited for what comes next.

meet Angela

I am a caring, family-oriented person who values love, connection, and spending time with the people I care about most. Family has always been a very important part of my life, and I feel very grateful for the strong support system I have around me.

I work as a ministry coordinator for a church, which is an important part of my life. I enjoy being involved in service, supporting others, and helping create a welcoming and caring community.

In my free time, I enjoy simple, meaningful moments, whether that's cooking, spending time with friends and family, traveling, or enjoying a quiet evening at home. I also love being outdoors, exploring new places, and making memories through everyday experiences.

Giving back is important to me, and I try to stay involved through volunteering, supporting local shelters, and serving in my church community. I believe in kindness, compassion, and treating others with care and respect.

More than anything, I have always dreamed of becoming a mother. I look forward to providing a child with a safe, loving, and stable home where they feel supported, encouraged, and deeply loved every single day.

meet Brandon

I am an Electrical Engineer as well as serve in the Air Force Reserves. I would describe myself as observant, thoughtful, and someone who enjoys learning about the world around me. I can be quiet at first, but I warm up quickly once I feel comfortable. One of my strengths is being able to see situations from multiple perspectives and show empathy in any situation.

In my free time, I enjoy staying active, spending time outdoors, and simple things like movies, trying new restaurants, and time with our dogs. We value a calm, family-centered lifestyle.

Becoming a father is something I have always looked forward to. I am excited about the opportunity to provide a child with a loving, stable, and supportive home. I look forward to being patient, involved, and a caring dad who is present for the everyday moments and milestones alike.

My military service has also taught me how to stay calm under pressure, adapt when needed, and value the support of those around me. These experiences have strengthened my desire to be a steady and reliable father and partner.

our Home

Home is one of our favorite places to be. We live in a warm, welcoming home where we enjoy spending time together, whether we're cooking dinner, watching a movie, playing games, or simply relaxing after a busy day. We love creating a space where family and friends feel comfortable, and we can't wait to fill it with the laughter and joy of a child.

One of our favorite parts of our home is our backyard, where we enjoy spending time outdoors. We can already picture playing catch, blowing bubbles, roasting marshmallows, and making memories together as a family.

More than anything, we hope our child always feels that home is a place where they are safe, loved, and accepted. We want our home to be filled with encouragement, laughter, and unconditional love. A place where they can grow into exactly who they are while knowing they always have someone cheering them on.

our Community

Our community is family oriented filled with parks, walking trails, and great schools nearby. We look forward to bike rides, trips to the playground, creating holiday traditions, playing in our backyard, and all of the everyday moments that make childhood so special.

We're also thankful to be close to libraries, recreational centers, and numerous activities. Having these resources nearby gives us the confidence that our child will have every opportunity to learn, grow, and explore their interests.

We can't wait to experience our community through our child's eyes. We will be cheering at little league games, visiting the library, enjoying ice cream on a summer evening, attending festivals, and creating traditions that will last a lifetime.

our Family

Both of our families live very close to us and we spend a lot of time together. We're constantly getting together for dinners, holidays, birthdays, and just everyday visits when we can.

Being with family is a big part of our lives. It's where we relax, laugh, catch up, and enjoy being together. We're grateful that both sides of our family live close and are so involved in our lives.

Everyone is excited about the possibility of welcoming a child and can't wait to love and support them as they grow up.

Angela's Family:

My family means everything to me and is a huge support system in my life. I have the most loving parents, sister, brother-in-law, and an adorable baby niece, with whom I share a special bond. Everyone is excited about our journey and will be a tremendous help to us as we transition into parenthood. I'm also extremely close with my extended family, and we see each other frequently beyond holidays. There is always so much joy and laughter when we are together, and I feel so incredibly grateful.

Brandon's Family:

I come from a loving family with wonderful parents, two sisters, their husbands, and two sweet nephews. We spend time together often, especially during the holidays, and their support will help make our transition into parenthood much easier. I also have a large extended family, so we never have to worry about reaching out for help as they're always willing to lend a hand. We even take an annual family trip to Florida with more than fifty relatives, and we can't wait to share those special memories and experiences with our child.

Our Favorite People

Our Best Friends

Our friends are a tremendous part of our lives and truly feel like family to us. We are extremely lucky to be surrounded by people we can always count on, no matter what. They have been with us through different seasons of life and continue to offer love, support, and encouragement.

We enjoy spending time together, whether it's sharing meals, celebrating milestones, going on trips, or catching up. Even in the everyday moments, we value the time we get to spend with them.

They are excited about our journey into parenthood and can't wait to welcome a child into our circle of love, support, and friendship.

Hobbies and Interests

Giving back to our community is very important to us. We regularly donate to local shelters and look for opportunities to support those in need whenever we can. We also volunteer at our church and value being involved in service and helping others.

We have rescued two dogs who bring us overwhelming joy and have also taught us even more about love, patience, and responsibility. Caring for them has been a meaningful part of our lives and has helped prepare us even more for parenthood.

We look forward to raising a child in a home where kindness, compassion, and serving others are a natural part of everyday life. We hope to lead by example and encourage them to care for others.

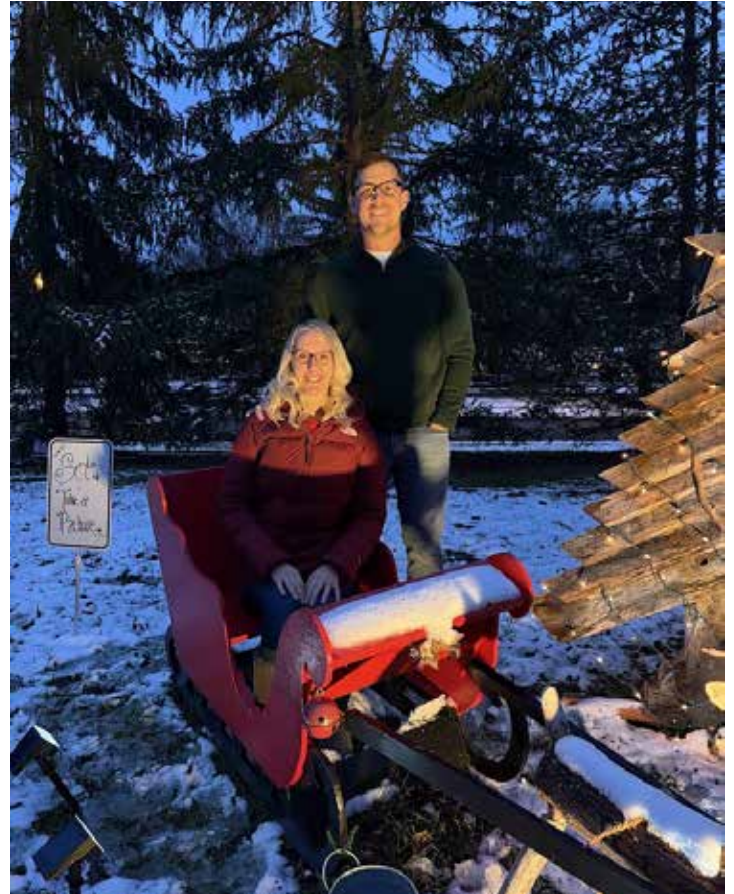

We cherish spending our free time doing simple things together, whether it's cooking at home, watching movies, or spending time with family and friends. We love taking walks, traveling, and exploring new places together.

We also enjoy creating traditions as a couple, hosting family gatherings, attending local festivals, and gardening. In quieter moments, we like relaxing at home enjoying each other's company, whether that's playing a board game or sitting on our back porch and enjoying the view.

We eagerly await sharing these hobbies and experiences as a family and creating new memories together, especially through time outdoors, learning, and everyday life.

our PROMISE

It would be our greatest honor to raise a child and provide them with a home filled with unconditional love, stability, and support. We promise to always be there for them, to encourage them, and to celebrate who they are as they grow.

We will do our best every day to create a safe and nurturing home where they feel valued, accepted, and deeply loved. We promise to raise them with kindness and compassion, to teach them the importance of family and helping others, and to lead by example in our everyday lives.

Above all, we promise to always put their well-being first and to love them unconditionally. We are excited to grow as parents and to experience all the joy and challenges that come with raising a child.
